

Laborers for the Harvest

Luke 10:1-12

Pastor Brent Whitefield

Introduction: In his instructions to his seventy-two missionaries, Jesus not only empowers them for their task, but he gives them practical advice for successful evangelism. He warns them of the challenges and hardships they will face, while assuring them of divine anointing for their work. We would do well to reflect on the principles Jesus lays out in revisiting our own efforts to contribute to the fulfillment of the Great Commission.

Five Principles:01.*02.*03.*04.05.Laborers for the Harvest

1. What is the substance of the missionary's message?
2. Being sent out as a lamb among wolves sounds like a recipe for disaster. Is this a warning or does it address the attitude of the missionary?
3. How persistent should the gospel-bearers be in working unfruitful soil?
4. How is the evangelist to obtain the resources he needs for his work?
5. How do we identify a "son of peace"?
6. Where does responsibility lie for the receipt of the gospel message?
